DILLON AERO'S 2

By Duane Thomas

Mike Dillon actually owns two separate businesses. Dillon Precision is the company building the world's finest reloading machines. No lie. Dillon Aero manufactures the M134-D Mini-Gun. Each year both companies get their own calendar. In this article we'll address the 2007 calendar for Dillon Aero.

Miss January is Cathy, the pretty blond whose cover shot for April 2004 was voted in an online poll the best Blue Press cover ever. In that shot Cathy was wearing a pair of tight jeans and leaning over a bright red Ford GT. In the January shot there's also a bright red vehicle in the background, this time a Chevy SSR. Instead of jeans, Cathy's wearing a sprayed-on, short red dress but slightly darker in color than the truck, and high heels that really show off legs worth showing off.

Miss February is Kerry, our expatriate South African, wearing a brown dress and holding a black Kimber Pro Target .45 – as of course would anyone wearing such a dress. This is one of Blue Press editor Mark Pixler's favorite shots of Kerry, because, as he said, "In this shot she just looks sultry; the look of innocence is gone. It was there to start with. I guess she grew up. Not that that's a bad thing. She doesn't look 19 anymore – which is how old she was when she came in to her first Blue Press shoot."

Miss March is Cristina, from Romania. Also holding a 1911, but this one is a Springfield in 9mm. The dress is a low-cut sequined evening gown that barely seems to be doing its job.

Miss April is Kerry, aiming a digital camo pattern FAL from DS Arms. The view is right down the muzzle. Given how good Kerry looks, she probably needs it to keep men at bay.

Miss May is Jennifer, Dillon's "ultimate girl next door" blond. The rifle is, according to Mark Pixler, "just another AR, by a company that's now defunct, so there's no point in mentioning its name." We both feel it's worth mentioning how beautiful Jennifer's legs look.

Miss June is Ashlee, showing a lot of very nice belly. Obviously no stranger to crunches, there's something really nice about a woman with decent muscle tone who doesn't mind showing it off. When you've got a belly like Ashlee's, the cropped tube top she's wearing is an act of generosity toward every man with eyes in her immediate vicinity. Ashlee is sitting on a lucky HMMWV holding an M134-D in a DVRM-2 (Dillon Vehicle Ring Mount) designed to be used with the HMMWV's existing ring mount. Bet you didn't even notice she was wearing a shoulder holster; you were too busy staring at her pierced belly button.

Miss July is Cathy again. I would say this is my favorite shot. Many, many people will feel the same way. That's why it's also on the calendar's cover. Cathy is wearing Crye Precision MultiCam™ fatigues, the top open over an orange bikini top that's not camouflaging anything. Damn, that's a nice shot.

Miss August is Nichole. This is a nice shot, too. It was originally intended for the Dillon Precision calendar, but Mike Dillon personally, unilaterally decided this one was going into the Dillon Aero calendar. There's really no military theme to it; Nichole is posing with a black gun case in front of a
